Youth Organization incorporation and plans making good progress

Legal work towards incorporation of the newly-formed Carmel Valley Youth Organization is under way by attorney Mark Starr, it was announced at a directors' meeting last Thursday at the Community Center.

This is one of the steps towards formalizing the new youth organization, to make it eligible for Crosby Foundation funds.

Hopes are high that the Youth Organization can finance a paid director without calling on local adult groups for other than volunteer assistance when needed. Cooperation of the Carmel Valley Women's Club, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs is being sought.

Two money-raising events last Saturday were successful. The Saturday matinee movie at the Community Center and a car wash in the Village did very well.

The refreshment stand at the Center has been reopened for those attending the movies, and hotdogs at 25¢ each have been added to the menu.

Films are shown twice on Saturday afternoon, at 1 p.m. and 3. All are approved for children by the Legion of Decency, the Green Sheet movie rating and PTA.

Volunteering their time to operate the projector are Kit Parker and Tom Graff.

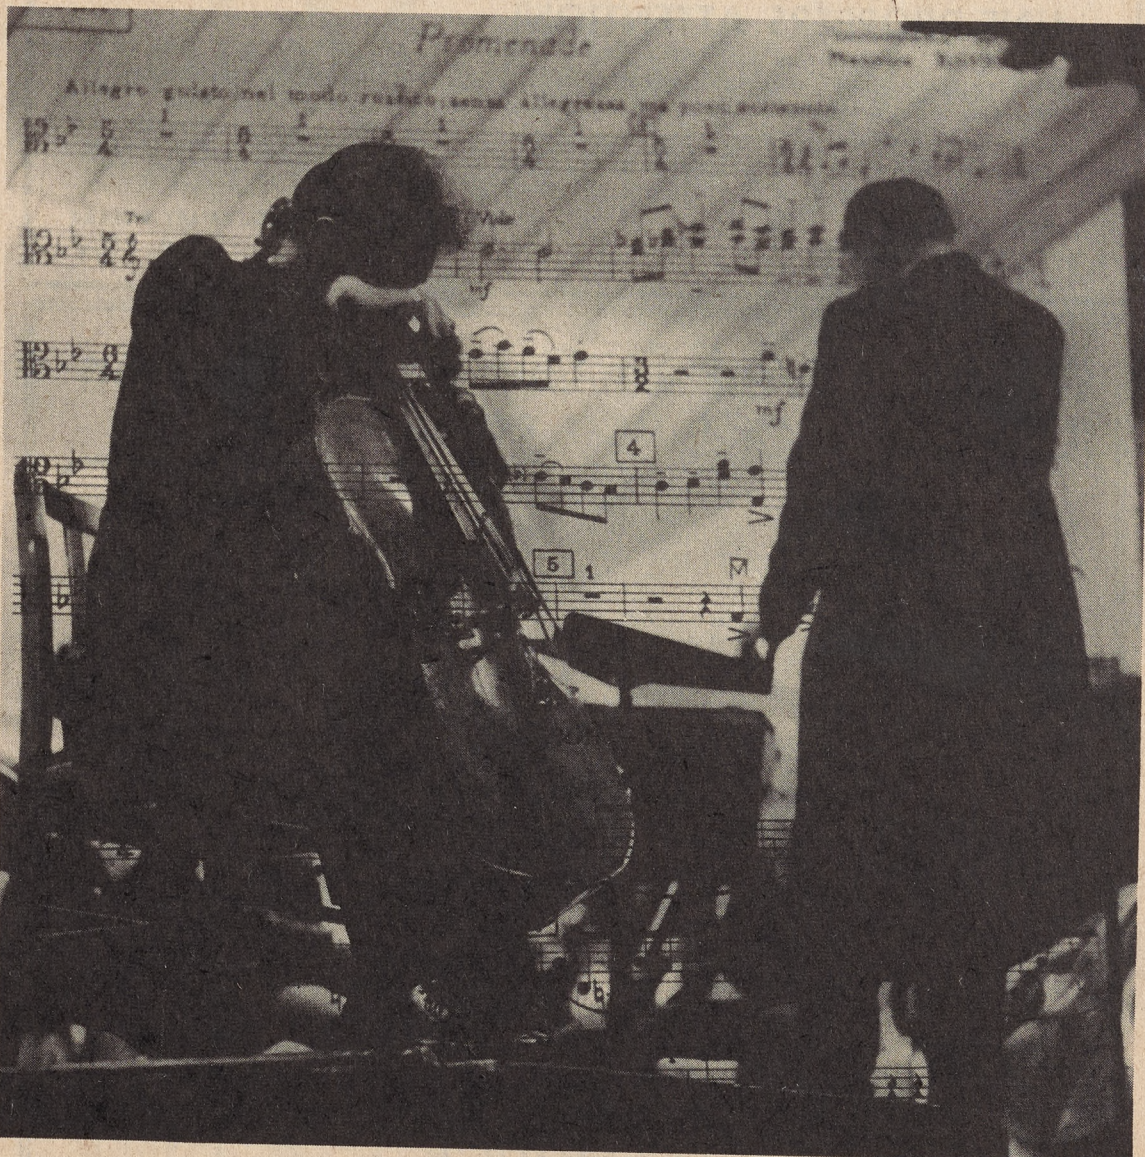

The next three weeks' offerings include "Pony Express" March 12, "Dog of Flanders" March 19 and "Three Worlds of Gulliver" March 26. (This latter film had been scheduled for last Saturday, but was held up and "Make Way for Lila" was substituted and well received.

CVPOA Opposition to service station reaffirmed

Opposition to a service station proposed by Green Meadows, Inc. with a scheduled hotel at the entrance to Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club was unanimously reaffirmed by the Carmel Valley Property Owner's Association directors at a meeting Thursday night at the CV Community Center.

A reapplication for the service station is scheduled to come before the County Board of Zoning Adjustment in May. It has been turned down once.

Clayton Neill Jr. was appointed by President Rex Pryor "to begin warfare with PG&E to bring natural gas to the Valley." A member of the CVPOA board of directors, it was decided will attend Upper and Lower Valley Planning Advisory Committee meetings for informational purposes. Dr. Ben Dahle was named to attend Lower Valley Committee meetings and Doyt Early to audit meetings of the Upper Advisory, of which he is an official member.

Plans were discussed to launch a renewed membership drive for CVPOA.

A full turnout will be promoted for the next meeting, April 13 at 8 p.m. at Tularcitos School, which will be kickoff for the membership campaign. Program for the meeting will feature showing of a Sierra Club conservation film, "The Bulldozed Earth."

Little League signing teams on Saturday

Another Little League sign-up is scheduled this coming Saturday morning from 10 to noon at the field at the fire house. Signups began last Saturday.

A parent is expected to accompany the young player, who is to bring a certified birth certificate.

More sponsors of farm teams are urgently needed as well as coaches. Those interested are asked to call League President George Groves at 659-2458 or Roger Sherman at 659-4258.

Next general meeting of League supporters is scheduled April 1 at 8 p.m. at the fire house. Regular monthly meetings will be held the first Friday of the month during baseball season.

Carmel Business Association meeting to discuss school tax

Quarterly meeting of Carmel Business Association Thursday March 17 will feature a talk by Eben Whittlesey on "Basic information about the School Override Tax."

It will be at the La Playa Hotel with cocktails at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30. Reservations are required by Tuesday.

New CBA executive secretary is Kaye Scott, who succeeded Rosemary Miller.

Candidates' night, traditionally sponsored by CBA, is scheduled Thursday April 7 at Sunset Auditorium to allow Carmel city council candidates to air their views.

Because of the Association's interest in Carmel's parking problems, the Executive Committee March 3 went on record that "the Carmel Business Association seeks legal advice regarding filing an injunction to stop the sale by the city of any real city property at this time." Carmel city council is scheduled to discuss this at its meeting tonight, March 9.

Carmel Arts Commission is selling commemorative car decals to raise money to celebrate the 50th year of Carmel's incorporation.

Additional donations are sought to help fight the proposed Humble Oil Co. refinery at Moss Landing, according to William Burleigh. They may be mailed to CBA or direct to Six Cities Fund, Box 1915, Carmel.

Trustees meet tonight at Tularcitos

Board of trustees of Carmel Unified School District will meet at Tularcitos School in Carmel Valley this week, Wednesday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the third consecutive year when the school board holds one meeting a year at Tularcitos School, to make it easier for neighboring residents to attend if they want.

Lawsuit against Supervisors awaits Francis Heisler return

Next move by the Carmel Valley group of plaintiffs in the "corrupt practices" lawsuit against three of the county board of supervisors is awaiting return of attorney Francis Heisler from a trip East.

The suit was thrown out of court February 25 by Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil who ruled that only conclusions, not facts had been presented. He refused to sign an alternate writ of mandate.

Heisler may, if he wishes, take his application before another of Monterey County's three superior court judges.

Plaintiffs in the suit are John Sigourney, George A. Brown, Dr. Ben M. Dahle, Dorothy Durham, John D. Harms, Anders Larson and Roland T. Percival.

The new Village Committee of local merchants has scheduled a short meeting this Thursday from 5:45 to 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

Plans set for St. Pat's Day golf tourney

Sure...and begorra...! The third annual "Monterey Peninsula Championship of Ireland," will be decided on Del Monte Golf Links on St. Patrick's Day. Sponsored by a tournament committee headed by Father Jeremiah O'Sullivan, Peninsulans are invited to celebrate St. Pat's Day in traditional style.

Eighteen holes of golf will follow with a noon time fortification of an Irish lunch, served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The day's festivities will wind up at the Mark Thomas Inn with a no-host cocktail party at 6:30 and dinner-dance beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Entries for the tournament are limited to 200. For information on golf entries call Nick Lombardo at Del Monte Golf Course. For Dinner-Dance reservations call Mrs. Tom McCorray, 384-7352.

CARMEL VALLEY YOUTH ORGANIZATION

The Carmel Valley Youth Organization is sending out a plea for an unpaid temporary, or interim, director. This person could be someone who would eventually become the paid director, according to CVYO adult board member Tom Graff. Or it could be someone who would be interested in donating two or three hours three days a week for a limited time between now and when the paid director is hired.

They need a responsive person, in either case, who could help organize club activities such as hayrides, picnics, help schedule classes which have been offered in horseback riding, karate, bridge, etc.

Attorney Mark Starr is in the process of preparing papers for the group's incorporation as a non-profit organization. After they are chartered and their by-laws approved, they will be close to being in a position to hire a regular paid director.

But for right now, they are hoping that some organized person to help organize activities will come forward and offer his or her time. It would be a worthwhile contribution to this newly formed, very active group, of teenagers, and they really need the help.

Saturday movie

"Pony Express," one of the really BIG westerns, will be presented for the Saturday matinee movie on March 12. Sponsored by the Carmel Valley Youth Organization, the children's movies are all in technicolor and bear the stamp of approval of Parent's Magazine and the Legion of Decency. Admission is 35¢, and shows are at 1 and 3 p.m.

"Pony Express" tells the story of how Buffalo Bill, played by Charlton Heston, Wild Bill Hickock, played by Forrest Tucker, and Calamity Jane, portrayed by Jan Sterling, helped to start the famous pony express.

Chaperones are present at each movie and proceeds go to help the CVYO.

Preliminary census figures show 13% increase in Monterey County population

A preliminary figure of 224,276 for the population of Monterey County was announced today by Elden J. Steinfeld, supervisor of the special census conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Official figures will be published in a final report several months from now, but they are not expected to vary greatly from those released today.

With the census work completed in the county, Mr. Steinfeld is closing the temporary headquarters office in Salinas.

Monterey County's population in the 1960 census was 198,-

351. This preliminary 1965 figure of 224,276 represents an increase of 13 percent in the population.

The special census of Monterey County was taken under provisions of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, which calls upon the Director of the Census to determine for certain areas whether less than 50 percent of the population of voting age voted in the 1965 presidential election. Whether Monterey County was above or below the 50% line will be announced at about the time the final report of the special census is issued.

Following are preliminary figures showing the population for cities and towns in Monterey County:

Salinas	52,157
Monterey	25,096
Seaside	20,915
Pacific Grove	12,173
Carmel By The Sea	4,121
Soledad	3,715
King City	3,049

Modern electric room heating has individual room controls. This means each member of the family can dial his own room comfort—his own private climate. Electric heating units fit anywhere in the house—into walls, floors or ceilings—and unobtrusively. Installation cost is low because no vents or flues are needed. And heating costs average just 7½¢ per square foot per year. If you're building, remodeling or want to solve a special heating problem—get electric heat. Citizens Committee details need for 70¢ school tax election

"We can tell you where every penny of it is needed," said Richard Wilsdon of Carmel this week, speaking of the 70¢ override tax which will come before CUSD voters later this month. Wilsdon is the chairman of Carmel's Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

"Half of the money is required to stay exactly where we are. We have 340 more students in the district than we had two years ago, with exactly the same number of teachers.

"The assessed valuation of new housing doesn't keep up with the number of new students who come to us—we would need something more than one additional house per additional student to meet our present expenses."

New Teachers Needed

"We need 22¢ out of the 70¢ for new teachers," Wilsdon went on. "As class size goes up, quality of education goes down, especially in the lower grades. Nobody disputes that any more. Particularly in English and mathematics where we want the kids to work at home and want the teacher to look at every paper—if they see more than 150 students a day, this is an impossibility.

"Our Middle School needs eight more teachers, two in English and one each in just about every other area, math, science, history, language, music, arts and crafts."

Maintenance, according to the committee, is another large item in the override budget. Carmel High School is 25 years old; wartime shortages had begun to affect the quality of construction materials when it was built.

Major Repairs

It needs $50,000 worth of major repairs: new water supply lines, steam lines, storm drains, a gymnasium floor, and many others. River school needs a new roof; so does Woods. These maintenance items have been delayed for financial reasons, but every home-owner knows that postponement past a certain point means more expense in the end. Textbooks, pupil supplies, supplementary texts, library books and new equipment are in "chronic shortage," according to a summary report by the superintendent to the Board of Education relating to override funds. They would use up 4¢ of the 70.

"Because of our salary scale which isn't competitive with surrounding districts," Wilsdon continued, "we do most of our hiring among teachers right out of college, without experience. To help them be effective we provide in-service training in the form of work-shops, special courses, consultants who can give them invaluable advice. We have to do this ourselves because there isn't any college close by that is set up for it. These programs account for the last nickel of the money we're asking for."

Budget Summary

The proposed override budget can be summarized as follows:

To maintain existing program—	35¢
Additional teachers & teachers salaries—	22
In-service training—	5
Books and textbooks—	4
Special programs and maintenance—	4
	70¢

Copies of the full document relating to override funds (Memorandum B95, dated February 2, 1966) can be obtained by interested persons from the Carmel Unified School District office.

Taxpayers Association opposes new school tax

Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association is opposing the request of the Carmel Unified School District for an additional 70¢ per hundred dollars assessed valuation override tax and an extension of the present 50¢ override tax now in effect. This will be voted on at a Special election on March 29th.

The special study Committee gave its reasons as follows:

REAL PROPERTY AS A TAX SOURCE IS SATURATED.

Real property taxes have more than doubled in the past ten years. A large percentage of the residents in this area have fixed, or limited incomes and these people, who have contributed substantially to the community, are threatened with the loss of their property. Property taxes are rapidly becoming confiscation rather than taxation.

TAX INCREASES GREATER THAN COST OF LIVING ARE UNWARRANTED.

Inflation is considered serious if it reaches 3% per year. The government discourages price increases above this bracket. Carmel Unified School District is increasing its budget by $500,000 and the cost of education by over 25%. This increase is far beyond anything justified by changes in our economy.

INCREASED PROPERTY TAX FORCES SUBDIVISION OF RURAL SCENIC LANDS.

Owners of rural lands are squeezed by higher taxes. The obvious way out is to sell to the subdividers. Preservation of the area's scenic beauty is of prime importance to all of us.

THE NEED FOR THE INCREASE IS NOT APPARENT.

Carmel School District now has the highest cost per pupil on the Peninsula and one of the highest costs per pupil in the State - surpassed only by Beverly Hills and a few other districts. While total assessed valuation in the district has gone up an average of 10% per year, school attendance increased only 15% in five years, and, in fact, dropped between 1963 and 1964. There is no evidence of a rapid enrollment increase in the near future. Why then the sudden large increase in budget?

THE DISTRICT HAS SUBMITTED this important decision on short notice at an expensive special election. The issue should have been consolidated with the primary election in June.

CVPOA meeting

Pros and cons of the proposed 70¢ override tax for Carmel Unified School district will be discussed at a public meeting to be sponsored by Carmel Valley Property Owners Association this Thursday, March 10 at 8 p.m. at the CV Community Center.

Representatives from the Citizens Committee for Better Schools will argue in favor of the proposal and others from the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association will speak against.

President Rex Pryor of the CVPOA will serve as moderator of the meeting. General discussion will follow the talks by the speakers.

MVPOA meeting

The proposed tax override for Carmel Unified School district will be discussed at a meeting of the Mid Valley Property Owners Association this Thursday at 8 p.m. at Carmelo School.

Speaking in favor will be representatives from the Citizens Committee for Better Schools and against, from the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association.

President Beverly Stover of the Association will introduce the speakers.

7 Carmel students win scholarships

Seven Carmel students are among forty-four from Monterey Peninsula College who received $50 checks in the annual mid-year awarding of scholarships by the Associated Students.

The scholarships were distributed through the college's various departments with each department rating one scholarship per 35 majors. Department chairman made the selections from their outstanding performance students.

Recipients were Cleveland Sibley, electronic technician major; Edward W. Hunt, humanities major; Holly Garcia, Stanley Lindberg, and Randall Harris, general studies; Linda Lachmund and Glen Kovacevich, social science majors.

Winners first fulfilled a list of qualifications before those receiving the awards were chosen. These included membership in ASMP and the requirement that each must have taken a minimum of 12 units of college work during the fall semester at MPC, have a cumulative grade average of 2.4 or better and be continuing from Fall to Spring semester.

IN ADDITION to a first prize, honorable mention was also scored by Mrs. LeRoy Dufur's photos of the symphony orchesthe photo competition and members of the Symphony Board and the Salinas and Monterey Peninsula Symphony Guilds.

Mrs. Dufur wins Symphony photo competition

A Carmel Valley photographer, Mrs. LeRoy Dufur, has won first prize in the Monterey County Symphony Association's contest for amateur photographers.

James M.R. Glaser, president of the Symphony Association, presented the first prize, a check for $25, to Mrs. Dufur at a party at the Beach Club last Sunday afternoon.

Her winning photo was a dramatic double exposure presentation of the Symphony's conductor, John Gosling and the renowned cellist, Rolf Storseth, during rehearsal. Also winning honorable mentions were her two studies of the orchestra's harpist in action and a rehearsal-weary cellist stealing a moment of oblivion.

Judging was by professional photographers Al Weber, Geroge Seideneck, Wynn Bullock and Steve Crouch.

Mrs. Dufur is taking her third year photography course at Monterey Peninsula College. For two years she studied with Al Weber and is currently taking an advanced course from Gerry Sharpe.

Her talent was further recognized by inclusion of a number of her photographs in an exhibition of top area photographers last December at the AFA gallery.

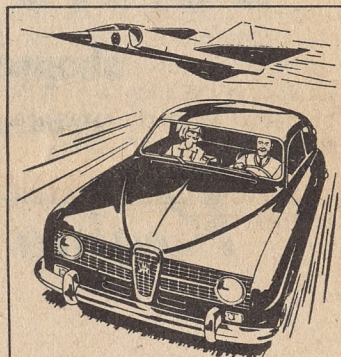

"After our four children married, my photography hobby helps to keep me busy," she explained. She uses a Japanese 2-1/4 x 2-1/4 Ricoh camera. The Dufurs live at 21 Hitchcock Canyon Road.

Second prize winner in the Symphony contest, Ernest Smith of Pacific Grove, is a member of the Symphony Orchestra. Readers of the National Geographic magazine are familiar with his unique studies of plant life and animals.

Miss Juanita Todd of Monterey, third prize winner, was applauded for her exquisitely detailed study of musical instruments.

Some 50 guests at the party included all contestants as well as members of the Symphony Board and the Salinas and Mon-

Happy Birthday

Don McKenzie, Sr. eighty eight?

Eighty eight years gone a-winging Filled with friendship. Each year bringing Old friends closer, new friends nearer
Old and new friends growing dearer.

Mac's a neighbor staunch and true.
The kind to tell your troubles to,
For troubles seem to disappear
Before his grin from ear to ear.

Take him your fears and take him sighs
You can't dim the twinkle in his eyes,
But grins and twinkles cannot hide
The understanding heart inside.

Perhaps the famous grins and twinkles
Are what erases all the wrinkles
But if they're not, then what's the truth
Where is his gol-darn fountain of youth?

Pianist initiates music series at Canterbury Woods

Roy Bogas, internationally known pianist, is the first artist to perform for the new music series to be held in the auditorium at Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove. The series is under the direction of Dr. Sandor Salgo of Stanford University.

Bogas, who achieved worldwide recognition at the 2nd International Tchaikovsky Piano Competition held in Moscow in 1962, will offer a five part program. Part I—Prelude and Fugue in G minor from the well-tempered Clavier, Vol. I by Johann Sebastian Bach and Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, from Cantata 147 by Bach; Part II—Rondo Capriccioso, Opus 14 by Felix Mendelssohn; Part III—Sonata, Opus 109 by Ludwig van Beethoven; Part IV—Reflections on the Water, from "Images," Book I by Claude Debussy and Ondine, from "Gaspard de la Nuit" by Maurice Ravel; Part V—Four works in the key of c# minor—Waltz Op. 64, No. 2, Etude Op. 25, No. 7, Mazurka Op. 63, No. 3, Scherzo Op. 39 by Frederic Chopin.

The performance will begin promptly at 8 p.m., March 18, and tickets for the series may be obtained at Canterbury Woods, 651 Sinex Avenue, Pacific Grove, or by phoning 373-3111.

Peninsula drive for Guide Dogs for the Blind

Monterey Peninsulans are being asked this week to help provide the gift of independence and mobility for the blind by sending their membership contributions to Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc.

This 19th annual membership drive will be by mail only, according to Mrs. James H. Parks, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Committee of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

Mrs. Parks stated that in past years, local contributions have been able to finance two or more man-dog units at an approximate cost of $1,850 per unit. This sum includes the cost of an extensive and highly selective breeding and training program and a 30 day in residence man-dog instruction period for each guide dog recipient.

Guide dogs are made available to blind men and women of the 24 Western states. The program is maintained solely by contributions.

New or renewed memberships in Guide Dogs for the Blind should be sent directly to headquarters at San Rafael, California, Mrs. Parks said. All contributions from this area will be credited to the Monterey Peninsula's quota.

'Sing Out '66' draws enthusiastic response from Carmel High School students

THE 120 SINGERS in the "Sing Out '66" troupe represent 51 high school and college campuses in 18 nations. They lunched with students at Carmel High before their performance last Tuesday at an all-school assembly. In the cafeteria MRA members discuss their show with Carmel students. School district sponsors Crafts class

A class in Creative Crafts, sponsored by the Recreation Department of the Carmel Unified School District, is being held each Monday evening from 6:30 to 9:00 o'clock, at the Carmel Foundation Town House, with Mrs. Milton (Lucille) Stitt as instructor.

Mrs. Stitt, a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, taught at the Art Institute and in the public schools of Madison, Wisconsin before coming to Carmel a number of years ago. She has also been an instructor at Studio One in Oakland and at Monterey Peninsula College.

This class is open to the public and only a nominal fee of $3.00 per semester is required for supplies. There is no registration charge.

The Carmel Foundation is located at 8th and Lincoln and further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Walker at 624-1588.

Under the Oaks and Among the Cacti

By Mildred Hattan

Mention of the Monterey Peninsula, hereafter, will undoubtedly remind last week's visitors from Atlantic City, New Jersey, that their arrival coincided with the area's first signs of Spring. Mrs. Ida Karlock and Mrs. Ethel Baker were guests for five days at the Boronda Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Eagan on this their first trip to California. They were given both the scenic and historical tours made all the more interesting since they were accompanied by Mrs. Frank DeAmaral Sr., whose family helped to write the chapters of early California history.

Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Masaglia, of El Hemmorro fashioned their tract into a modern day covered wagon with mattresses and sleeping bags on the canvass covered bed and headed recently for ski country. Accompanied by sons, Peter, Tommy, and David (who celebrated his sixth birthday on the fun-filled weekend), the Massaglias took a cabin at Pinecrest which has easy access to Dodge Ridge and gentle slopes for beginners. The experience made confirmed winter sports enthusiasts of the boys and one which they hope to repeat in the not too distant future.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Platter planned a special celebration at their home on Paso Mediano honoring the ninth birthday of their daughter, Kathy. Guests attending the birthday dinner (highlighted by a lovely cake centered with a dool, sugary confection forming her skirt), were invited to spend the night. Activities the following day included breakfast, lunch and the matinee at the Community Center. Sharing the festivities with Kathy were Carol Crockett and Diane Young.

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. G.K. "Joe" Roland of Cummings Drive were host and hostess for the party last weekend of Section BSA5 of the Naval Postgraduate School. Meeting first for cocktails at the Carmel home of Lt. Cmdr. George Hendricks, the party then moved to the Plaza Linda Restaurant where Nancy and Joe had made eighteen dinner reservations. The Naval entourage ended their Valley evening at the "Wine and Roses Ball."

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Isaacs invited friends to join them for cocktails before the "Wine and Roses Ball." Arriving at the Isaacs home on Del Rio Road were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. Dick Walker, Dr. and Mrs. Ed Arana, Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Petkus, Lt. and Mrs. William Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Busick, and Mr. and

Mrs. Frank Sclawy.

The members of the Valley Bridge Club gathered on Washington's Birthday at the Rancho Del Monte Resort for an evening of play. Duplicate bridge results listed in first place, Mrs. Martha Vail and Mrs. Vivian Palmer; second place, Mr. and Mrs. John Hudelson; and third place, Mrs. Betty Graham and Mrs. M.L. Stoney.

Mr. and Mrs. Einar L. Hansen who formerly made their home on Boronda Road and now live in Gold Hill, Oregon, recently paid a brief visit to Valley friends. The Hansens were here to attend the wedding of their grandson, William Lee Robinson. Bill and his bride, the former Mildred Ann Jones, are making their home in Santa Barbara where Bill is enrolled at the University of California.

The mothers of the Cooperative Nursery School held their social and business meeting last Tuesday evening at the Hitchcock Canyon home of Mrs. Henry Blatnik. Mrs. Stan Cloud served as co-hostess. Mrs. Harry Baxter of Scarlett Road who has recently enrolled her sons, Howard 3, and David 4, was welcomed to the organization. There are presently two openings for pre-schoolers between 2-1/2 and 5 years. For further information mothers are invited to phone Mrs. Don Johnson 659-2431.

"Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines" was viewed recently at the Century 21 Theater in San Jose by members of the GRAMPA Model A Club. Five antique (and equally magnificent) cars made up the caravan, whose passengers enjoyed an interesting Mexican dinner before their theater date.

Danny Campbell, son of Mrs. June Campbell of Paso Mediano, celebrated his new status as a teenager recently with a family dinner party at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. Honoring Danny on his very important 13th birthday were his mother, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Vestal, and his sisters; Lynn, Noel, and Leslie. Completing the celebration last weekend, Danny invited a few of his chums to spend the day as his guests at the Karakades. February is also the month that Danny's sister Noel shares her birthday with George Washington. In a festive setting of red, white, and green streamers, guests enjoyed games, cherry pie, which replaced the traditional birthday cake, and later attended the matinee at the Community Center. Attending were Lisa Erskine, Dena Palmer, Albertina Zarazua, and Diane Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier enjoyed a visit with their niece, Mrs. Rodney Wright who has been a recent house-

College film offering is famous satire on German life

"Aren't We Wonderful?" a German film made in 1958, is the first of two movies scheduled for March by the Monterey Peninsula College Theatre Arts Group.

Preceded by an analysis and critique by MPC faculty member Rod Holmgren, it will be shown in the music hall on campus twice on Friday, March 11, at 7 and 9 p.m.

Free tickets may be secured by addressing a request, with stamped, self-addressed envelope, to the Office of the Evening Dean; or they may be picked up at the college administration building.

The film was produced and directed by Kurt Hoffman, who was suppressed by the Nazis as a "decadent" director. It holds a mirror up to the German people, exposing in a mercilessly witty and satirical manner their fortunes and misfortunes from the days of the Kaiser through the Hitler era to the post-war "Wirtschaftswunder" (economic miracle). The story, told in Brechtian style, with frequent musical asides, concerns two schoolmates representing opposing outlooks on life.

"Aren't We Wonderful?" won the Best Film Award at the Berlin Film Festival and a Gold Medal at the Moscow Film Festival.

Second March film at MPC will be Fellini's award-winning "Nights of Cabiria" on Friday, March 25.

Movie Review:

'The Man In Istanbul,' a spoof spy-thriller

By DON MINOR

"That Man in Istanbul," coming soom to the Steinbeck Theatre on Cannery Row, packs in just about all the up-to-date spy thriller gimmicks which have been filling theatres lately and fires them off in a thunderball aimed directly at current public taste. Everything is there, trains, planes, dames. The setting is exotic; the plot is bottled-in-Bond; the cheek is positively sagging with the tongue in it.

One of the characters, a Free World nuclear scientist held captive in Turkey by a consortium of Communist thuggery, is played by an actor who looks awfully like the playwright, Arthur Miller. However, nothing else in this Columbia release is reminiscent of such quality. But then neither is Bond, for that matter.

"That Man," who is a concoction of American gambler, Turkish night club owner, unpaid FBI deputy and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., is only slightly more preposterous than Ian Fleming's woman-and-weapon virtuoso, especially as the latter has been vulgarized in films. As for Horst Bucholz vs. Sean Connery, it comes down to a choice between slender, Slavic vivacity and muscular, black-Saxon sensuality, a matter of milady's taste.

All in all, the effective production and attractive playing, coupled with director Daniel Mann's determination to submerge the script in a maelstrom of action, make for results that are often hilarious.

Under such ministration every scene in a divertissement like this becomes a matter of mirth and death. If one has critical reservations vis-a-vis the espionage ethic that allows agents unlimited resort to fraud and violence so long as they are on our side, he is reacting with admirable reasonableness, and your observer could only hope that one could act upon these reservations in real life as easily as he can laugh about them in such films as this. Since he cannot, the serious film-goer and connoisseur of spoofery (which are rapidly becoming one and the same thing) can only savour the morsels buried in the roughage and await the day when levity will leaven ferocity.

One scene for example: our heroic protagonist, the curly-haired gambled-cum-FBI man plunges into a wild battle with an over-powering force of villainous Reds (portrayed as both yellow and white, by the way) and then, when any one of ten

A variety of entertainment promised by 3'D's group at MPC show

The 3 D's, vocal instrumental trio, will present "The 3 R's," a two hour show of rhyme, rhythm and reason, at MPC Armory tonight at 8 p.m.

The trio will interpret some of the world's most famous literature incorporating such show business techniques as varied musical coloring, lighting effects, dramatic sketches and their own particular brand of humor.

The 3 D's work out their versatility of accompaniment with five guitars, a bass fiddle, trumpet, conga drum, bongos, piano, melophone, harmonicas and finger cymbals.

The trio was originally formed at Brigham Young University in Utah and since then they have toured many of the major college campuses. They record with Capitol Records and have appeared with Bob Hope, Jonathan Winters and Bob Newhart on TV.

Rare Visconti film this weekend at Tantamount

A rare chance to see a rare film is offered this week, Friday and Saturday only, at 8 p.m. at the Tantamount when Lucino Visconti's "La Terra Trema" takes over the screen.

An international pool of film critics name it "one of the ten best of all time." Except for a few festival showings, this release is the first time in its complete form. In its native Sicilian, with English subtitles, the single screening runs over 2-1/2 hours; necessitating the early starting time. There is no change in price.

TEMPLE OF ABU SIMBEL, which is being rescued from the rising Nile River, will be featured in an illustrated travelogue on Egypt by Ralph J. Franklin productions, at Sunset Auditorium on Friday, March 12 at 8:15 p.m. Sponsor is the Explorer's Club of San Francisco.

Explorarama film views Egypt

"EGYPT... GIFT OF THE NILE" will be shown at 8:15 p.m., Friday, March 12 at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel, by the Explorers Club of San Francisco.

The feature-length color film will be projected thru specially installed equipment on a new 30 foot wide screen with 'big theatre' Lansing stereophonic sound speakers. It will be narrated in person by its photographer, Ralph J. Franklin.

The film is part of the current Explorarama - Carmel series and tickets at $1.75 are now available at either Central Box Office in Carmel, phone 624-6739, or Abinante Music Store in Monterey, phone 372-5893.

bedding hills are located adjacent to the sliding while their parents ski. Although the park, we saw a number of them being areas.

THE PROPORTION OF ACCIDENTS increases as the hour grows later. Signs are posted warning the skiers to stop when he becomes fatigued, but at mid afternoon the ski patrol begins to go out and pull in the injured one after another. Saturday when we were at Badger Pass, there were nine major accidents, broken legs, arms, etc. all after 3 p.m. The Ski Patrol members are fascinating to watch as they swoop down a steep slope, carrying their burden with such ease and grace.

Several weeks ago we packed the station wagon with tons of our own and other people's cold weather clothing, ice skates, snow saucers, a wind sled, plus several sleeping bags, just in case we got snowbound, and took off for Yosemite and three days of vacation in the snow.

At 6:30 a.m. there was no one on the roads, and we arrived at our cabin at Camp Curry in Yosemite Valley about 11:30. We had snacked from the picnic hamper liberally enroute, so after discovering that the skating rink didn't open until the afternoon on weekdays, we decided to drive up to Badger Pass, and watch the skiers. It is a 20 mile drive of spectacular snow scenery. No chains were required that weekend, but we had them with us.

None of our family had ever skied, but Gregg was promised a trial run as a birthday present. The slopes were almost deserted, so we decided this was the time to venture out. By the time Gregg was booted and skied, he had talked the rest of us into trying it, just to keep him company.

Need we say more...everyone flipped over skiing and we spent most of the three days doing just that!

We skated in the evenings after dinner at the Camp Curry outdoor rink and on Saturday mornings when there were never more than ten skaters. (Even Yosemite Lodge cafeteria is not crowded if you get there early, but if you wait until after the cocktail hour, it's mobbed.) Ice skates may be rented for 50¢ a pair. We had our own, but they had to be sharpened after many years of lying dormant. The children had never been on skates, but, like with skiing, took to it beautifully and were whizzes by Sunday.

Accommodations at Camp Curry are not luxurious, but toasty and warm with lots of hot water, and privacy. They are also reasonable, with double cabins available in case two families join for a weekend. Atmosphere is particularly friendly and appropriate for the kids throughout Yosemite. Up at Badger Pass it is simple to have everyone on different slopes or sledging and meet for lunch. There is even babysitting available for younger ones with a nursery school type of facility.

We were blessed with the most perfect of weather. The snow was beautiful, the sun shown all the time and the air was warm, but not hot enough to melt either the snow or the skating rink. But don't count on that. We just didn't get the storm that was predicted, so that the mounds of spare clothing went unused.

All of these factors undoubtedly helped turn us into ski addicts, and we're counting the days until we can go again.

Classes in Hindu dance forms at Tantamount Theatre

Ishvani, noted performer of, and authority on, the ancient ritual of Hindu dance will instruct classes in Carmel Valley in the regional dance forms of her country, as well as in mime and the expressive hand gestures called "Mudras."

Classes will be held at the Community Center twice a month, Tuesday evenings, 7 to 8:30. An introductory class was held at the Tantamount Theatre March 8. Angene Feves' School of Ballet together with Tantamount, sponsor this unique cultural addition to Carmel Valley activity.

Ishvani, disciple to the great Uday Shanker, and his partner in London, has danced in the U. S. at the Metropolitan Museum, Brooklyn Museum, Eastman Theatre, Cooper Union, and Smith College. Now a resident of California, she has danced at Marine's Memorial Theatre in San Francisco, University of California at Berkeley, and City College. Valleyites will remember her performance at The Tantamount in 1962.

For information, telephone Mrs. Peter Hopkins, 659-4475.

ISHVANI, one of the world's notable performers of the ritual of Hindu dance will hold classes at Carmel Valley Community Center under the joint sponsorship of Angene Feves Dance Studio and the Tantamount Theatre. The meetings will be held bi-monthly on Tuesday evenings.

M.P.C. drama presentation will be play by Garcia Lorca

"The House of Bernarda Alba," Lorca's moving drama about women in the villages of Spain, will be staged by the Monterey Peninsula College Players on the evenings of March 18 and 19 and 23 to 26 in the MPC Little Theatre.

The all-female student cast will feature Layne Littlepage in the title role as the autocratic mother of five daughters. Well-known to audiences at the Studio Theatre in Carmel, Miss Littlepage has also been seen in leading roles in the MPC productions of "The Playboy of the Western World" and "Good Woman of Setzuan."

Susan Clifford, who portrays Bernarda's youngest daughter, Adela, appeared in the college productions of "Playboy of the Western World" and "The man who Came to Dinner." Luann Brown, a veteran of MPC's "Best Foot Forward," appears as Magdalena, another daughter.

Other members of the cast are Lee Brady, as Angustias the oldest daughter, whose forthcoming marriage precipitates the fall of the family; Martha Traugott, as Amelia; Sandy Clark, as Martirio; Judy Hammer as a slightly mad 80-year-old grandmother who is kept locked up by the family; Lynnea Larson, as a longtime servant of the family; Betty Waldrup, as a maid; and Colista Leone, as Prudencia, a friend of the family.

Drama instructor Morgan Stock, who has coached the cast through weeks of rehearsal, admits that "having all girls in a play poses certain problems." He is grateful, he says, to have a male student, Merle Smith of Carmel, as a stage manager.

"The House," last of a series of "rural tragedies," is the third Lorca play to be produced on the local campus. Previously presented were "Blood Wedding," a tragedy, and "The Shoemaker's Marvelous Wife," a comedy. Stock's choice of "The House" was based on his opinion, he says, that the Granada-born playwright creates "a tense, dramatic, exciting play."

After completing "The House," in 1936, the year the Spanish Civil War broke out, Lorca, though he tended to be apolitical, was seized by a group of Fascist terrorists and, along with other Republican prisoners, was shot.

Curtain time each evening at the MPC Little Theater will be 8:30. Tickets are priced at 50 cents for students and $1 for non-students. They may be purchased at the door.

Lecture on mosaics at Carmel High School

"Mosaics as an Art Form," the first in the Crafts in Action Demonstration lecture series will be presented on March 11, 8 p.m., in Brey Hall, Carmel High School, by Harry Powers of San Jose State College Art Department. The topic will cover wax and sand casting, design approaches and mosaic techniques with particular emphasis on use of newly developed adhesives.

Mr. Power's special interest is the design and execution of works which integrate with architecture. He has executed a number of commissions in Bay Area buildings, which included commercial, residential, ecclesiastical, governmental, and professional. His works are primarily mosaic and stained glass. He is currently designing stained glass windows for San Jose State College Chapel. This demonstration lecture is presented free to the public by the Carmel Adult School.

Owen Patrick has another college text on electronics published

Owen G. Patrick of Carmel Valley will have another junior college textbook published during the first week of April. "Creative Electronics Fabrication," designed for use in two year technical programs is a "first" in its field, according to Holt, Rinehart and Winston, who are publishing the text.

Such special features as photo-fabrication, unusual techniques of metal forming and surface treatment of metals are included in this book for the first time.

Owen has been a member of the Monterey Peninsula College faculty since 1959 after being associated with the electronics industry for many years. He was chairman of MPC's electronics department from 1962-64.

In addition to contributing

articles regularly to "Radio Electronics," a monthly magazine, Owen and his wife, Mona work together on many articles for other national publications. He illustrates and photographs for these stories and all of the 228 drawings in this current textbook are his work.

guest. Mrs. Wright accompanied by her daughter, Gena, flew to the Peninsula Sunday and will return on Friday to her home in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

A study in contradiction was the landscape last week at the home of the Charles Nasons on West Carmel Valley Road. The long driveway lined with pink flowering plum trees, surrounded by clouds of yellow acacia trees, topped with white snow capped mountain peaks...that's pretty unusual EVEN for Carmel Valley.

The Bridge and Canasta benefit card party sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church held their February party at the Country Club Drive home of Mrs. William Stowers. Co-hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Reginald Walker and Mrs. S. Gordon Brown. Also assisting was Mrs. Stowers' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Willys of Pacific Grove. From the forty four in attendance a high in Canasta was awarded to Mrs. Irving Ollason, and Bridge awards were made to Mrs. Flo Holm of Carmel and Mrs. Meta Becker of the Hacienda. Those who enjoy playing cards are invited to attend the March party at the home of Mrs. Don Quinto in Rancho Canada. Assisting Mrs. Quinto will be Mrs. Harry E. Townsend and Mrs. Isabelle Townsend.

The Delano Unified School District was represented by 58 administrators at their convention last weekend at the Carmel Valley Inn. On Saturday evening they attended the White Oaks production of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung you in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad." Later many of them arrived at the "Wine and Roses Ball" where a special welcome was given two of the administrators who happened to be president and vice president of the Delano Lion's Club.

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Hal Averty served traditional birthday cake and refreshments at their home on Los Agrinemores before taking their daughter Tina who was celebrating her tenth birthday and her guests for an afternoon of roller skating in Monterey. Invited were Bell Wallace who was a weekend guest at the Averty home, Mary and Kim Cummings, and Tina's brother, Randy.

Mrs. Steven Schaffer, chairman of the Upper Valley Red Cross Fund Collection Drive invited her volunteer workers to join her Friday morning at the Rancho del Monte Resort for a Koffee and distribution of materials. Dolores Williams and Win Deadrich donated the resort facilities and furnished the coffee for the 20 workers who attended. Miss Dorothy James, executive secretary of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross furnished the cake and assisted with serving. Dick Duhring, Peninsula chairman of the Golden Anniversary Drive spoke to the group as did Miss James. Among those attending was Mrs. Robert T. Jones, captain of Robles del

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of The Oleander Garden Shop

Once upon a time, the king of Persia went with his courtiers on a hunting trip. They came upon an old man planting the small shoots of date palms. After greeting him, the king said, "It is well to plant, but you are an old man and you will never live long enough to eat the fruit of these shoots." The old man answered, "Our forefathers planted and we have been eating fruit, and we plant for those who come after us." The king appreciated the wisdom of such an answer, and said "Zih" (Bravo), and ordered his treasurer to give the old man a sum of money. The man took the reward, thanked the king, and said, "Do you see, your Majesty, how quickly my shoots bore fruit?" The king enjoyed this statement and said "Zih," and ordered another present for him. The old man, after thanking the king, said, "The date palm tree bears once a year, but mine has already borne twice." The king was delighted with this wise old man and gave him another present, then quickly took leave, saying to his treasurer, "If we stay long enough, this witty old gentleman will empty our treasury!"

The old man, of course, did not intend to dig holes and plant trees, and then forget about them. They need care and maintenance in order to survive. Fertilizing is part of the procedure. It will not do much good if you apply it close to the trunk of a tree. It might cause more harm than good. It should be applied in the outer 2/3 of the area between the drip line and the trunk and a little beyond the drip line. Here are where the most active absorbing segments of the roots lie. Dig holes in this area about 18 inches deep with a pointed iron bar jabbed into the soil. Distribute these holes evenly in this area and in enough number to hold the required amount of fertilizer. Extremely compacted, hard soil should be drilled by an auger driven by compressed air. Post-hole diggers are not recommended since they might injure the roots badly.

Rio. Following the meeting, Inga-Britt Ringrose gave the ladies a tour of the Sauna Bath and Health Salon, a recent addition to the resort.

After the "Wine and Roses Ball" was over, friends were invited to return to the Ford Road home of Mrs. Patricia DeAmaral for breakfast. Joining Patricia were Dr. and Mrs. Dick Walker, Lt. and Mrs. Tom Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. William Isaacs, and Lt. Don Sheldon.

The Collection for Individualists

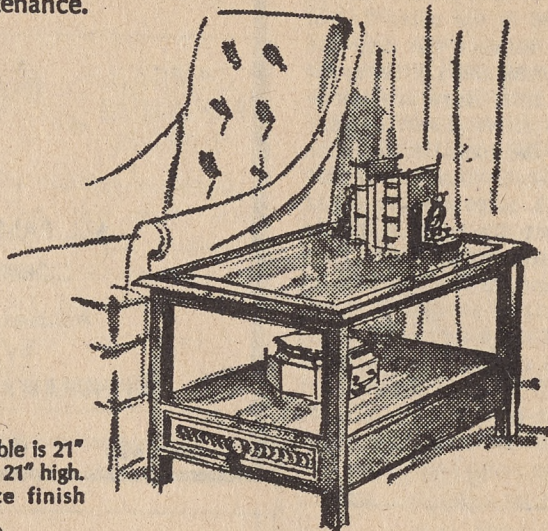

Here is occasional furniture for people of selective taste. Designed in the Mediterranean mood, each piece has a distinctive informal beauty so rare one might think they were antiques . . . and they could well be in the years to come. They are superbly crafted, the Henredon way, and possess that positive good taste that transcends fad and fashion.

We are sure you will be delighted with these Navarre occasional designs. They are crafted from respected Mahogany solids and veneers. You will appreciate, too, the cool distressed "Pewter" and warm "Bronze" finishes that encourage minimum maintenance.

Sandra Rogers and Rodney Allison wed in Carmel Mission ceremony

A late afternoon ceremony united Miss Sandra Rogers and Rodney Allison in marriage at the Carmel Mission, Chapel of the Blessed Sacrament on February 26. Father Juan Oronoz performed the rites.

Sandy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Rogers of Borrego Springs, was escorted to the altar by her father. Rodney is the son of Mrs. Sue Ransome of Carmel.

Sandy wore a white worsted costume suit for the ceremony and reception which followed at La Playa Hotel. An A-line empire dress was combined with a long coat and a cluster of white roses held the illusion veiling. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and bouvardia.

Sandy's single attendant was her sister, Mrs. Anne Lucindo of Vancouver, Washington. Winston Sargent of Carmel was Rodney's best man.

The bride's mother wore a cranberry wool suit with matching accessories and variegated pink carnations completing the color scheme. The groom's mother was attired in a brocaded blue-green fitted coat-dress ensemble, set off with white accessories and gardenias.

Both young people attended MPC after graduation from high school. The bride attended school in Julien California before coming to the Peninsula. The groom attended Robert Louis Stevenson School and graduated from Carmel High School.

After a week's honeymoon in Southern California, the young couple are at home in Carmel.

March meeting of Carmel Crafts in Creative

The March meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild Friday the 11th at 8 p.m. at the Art Association Gallery is designed to acquaint each member with the work being done by all the others. Members are asked to bring examples of work done in the past year and to explain aims and procedure. Associate members are urged to tell of their special interests often far removed from crafts.

Guests who are interested in crafts and might wish to join the guild are always welcomed.

The Rhyming Philosopher

What makes a rooster crow at night?
Does he remember some forgotten hen,
Or vainly seeks to expedite
The dawn; or just an afterthought amen?

Why should a tree grow tall and straight?
To seek the sun, or maybe to defy
The pull of gravity, and wait
With arms outstretched, maybe to someday fly?

What motivates the search for space?
The need to colonize another earth
For future hordes to find a place
To live? So why not halt the need at birth?

And why should men with such short years
To live, waste energies in hate and war?
Why spoil the yearn to love with tears
When peace and beauty stand at open door?

Hiding some problems in room decoration

By Belva Sanford, F.A.I.D.

Very few rooms and their furnishings are perfect. To fool the eye, here are some simple suggestions to overcome common problems.

A sofa that is too large for the room, or one that is poorly designed; cover the sofa in a plain fabric the same color and value as the wall, and the outline will seem to disappear. To add interest, have the fabric a slight contrast in texture. If color contrast is needed, use cushions for accents.

Following the same idea, if the wooden pieces are too large or too crowded in the room, yet needed for the comfort and function or love of the collection, paint the walls a medium or dark color. Contrast of color or value accentuates the scale, proportions and outline of the furniture silhouette.

In a room where the windows are spaced on several walls, select a fabric to blend with the wall color to give unity to the background. If the windows are mainly in one group, and cover most of one wall, a dramatic effect may be obtained by hanging the draperies from ceiling to floor, and covering the entire wall with an exciting printed material, which when drawn at night will give a change to the daytime effect.

In enlarging a room, the closer the background materials are in color, value and intensity, the more spacious the effect will be. If floor covering, walls, woodwork and curtains are all related, texture variations become very important.

For greater height in a room: curtains from ceiling to floor, bookcases from ceiling to floor, and vertical arrangements of pictures will help the illusion.

Recently there seems to be a fashion for embellishment of the stark, plain, functional surfaces. This trend appears in floor coverings and curtains as well as in upholstery and slip-cover fabrics. It must be handled with great care and taste, so as not to be too busy. One must consider the amount of areas to be patterned. To avoid monotony, be sure to vary the scale of the patterns. To go beyond one large pattern, one small or medium sized pattern, plus a stripe or plaid, needs a professional to keep it in control. If your room has large collections or accessories, these count as pattern, or design, so be especially careful when adding more pattern or the effect will be lost, and confusion will result.

Playhouse at Children's House combines play and creative situations for youngsters

The playhouse which the Carmel Valley Lions built for the youngsters during Christmas vacation is one of their favorite spots to play, according to Betsy McCall, therapist at Children's House.

The children who are learning at Children's House alternate between quiet and active activities because they are easily distracted and the playhouse concept is a creative one.

The main object of the program which is sponsored by the Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing is language development and development of behavior performance. The youngsters are in the four to six age group and spend three hours, each weekday, at the school.

With the limited number of children, those who are in the program respond more rapidly to instruction. These youngsters for the most part have been unable to work in normal crowded distracting classroom situations, even kindergarten. But with this individual training will be able to enter regular schools and become a part of the class. Upon arrival many of the youngsters have a verbal IQ which is two or three years below their performance IQ. By specialized training these two can be made more equal.

Their speech problems have for the most part developed from neurological deficiencies either before or at birth. These often develop into emotional problems because of rejection of other members of the family or neighborhood. Therefore a strict but benevolent form of discipline is used to teach the youngsters to behave in an acceptable manner. There is stress on picking up after themselves and independence, and a great deal of visual motor work with puzzles, color, letters and reading.

There are two volunteer adults each day who work in a teacher aid capacity, but more are desperately needed. Each adult has two children under her wing whom she helps with both the daily work and the daily play. Since the youngsters are easily stimulated and distracted it is her job to sense the situation and help direct it. In addition each child has private

The cost of attendance at Children's House is $200 per month. The parents pay what they can and the balance is made up in contributions to the non-profit Monterey Institute of Speech and Hearing, which is a private non-profit corporation.

This charming Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club home was planned for fullest enjoyment of country club living in a lovely setting at the foot of the Santa Lucias, with the sweeping view permanently protected by the fairway green belts. The choice lot is close to the clubhouse. The residence, set up as two bedrooms and a study, could just as easily be three bedrooms. Designed by leading architect Donald Wald, here are some of its interesting design elements:

- Covered entry walk following 20' stone wall
- Hand-carved panels making up unusual custom front door
- Radiant heat in two separate systems with separate adjustments for each room.
- Utmost privacy; no windows overlooking neighbors
- Laminated wood ceiling 4" thick offers insulation, sound-proofing, interesting texture
- Landscaping by national award winner Charles Hough includes 40 trees
- Walks are of polished river-rock aggregate
- Beautiful carpeting - 70 yards of draperies
- Fireplace has spotlight and log lighter, raised hearth
- 10 ft. ceilings for spaciousness
- In the kitchen, walnut cabinets, Armstrong Montana flooring, G.E. appliances including double oven, Waste King Disposal, lighted ceiling
- Master bedroom has one wall papered with dramatic embossed paper, extra large wardrobe carpeted and lighted, sliding door to a private patio

--Master bath has fully tiled shower, two mirrored medicine cabinets for 3-way view, mirrored wall, vinyl wallpaper, indirect fluorescent lighting, built-in scale.

--Phone jacks most rooms; TV outlets in living room, master bedroom, den

3 one act plays at White Oaks Theatre Workshop series

White Oaks Theatre will present a new venture in drama and musical theatre with its "Workshop Series #2" on Sunday evenings at 7:30, March 13 and 20.

"We were very happy with the public's response to Series #1 last month," said Shirley Eoff, director and Children's Theatre manager. "Edward Albee's 'The Sandbox' and Noel Coward's 'Fumed Oak' are dramatically and comically many leagues apart, but their combination on the program, we feel, both held and tickled three of the most responsive audiences we've had this winter."

"Workshop Series # 2" at White Oaks Theatre will feature three one-act plays. Performances are scheduled for 7:30 and are free to the public.

Plays included in the current work are "The Lady of Larkspur Lotion," a one act play by Tennessee Williams, directed by Martin Herzer, with Mary Pattie, Corliss Nickerson, and Dave Wynne; "The Stronger," a one-act play by August Strindberg, featuring Karen Kondan and Karin Gjording under the direction of Shirley Eoff, and "This Property is Condemned," another one-act by Tennessee Williams, with Ron Mitchell directing Sandra Lundwall and Mike Riordan.

Valley church group to travel to SF for lecture

Valley and Carmel Christian Scientists are planning to attend a talk by one of America's most distinguished journalists, Erwin D. Canham, in the California Masonic Memorial Temple in San Francisco Sunday March 13. His talk is on "The Spiritual Revolution." It will begin at 3:00 p.m., and is open to the public. Admission is free.

Mr. Canham is editor in chief of The Christian Science Monitor.

Sierra Club sponsors forum on camping

An "outing equipment forum," sponsored by the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club, will be held Sunday afternoon, March 13 from 1 until 4 at the Brey Hall and Music Hall complex at the Carmel High School. The free forum is open to the public.

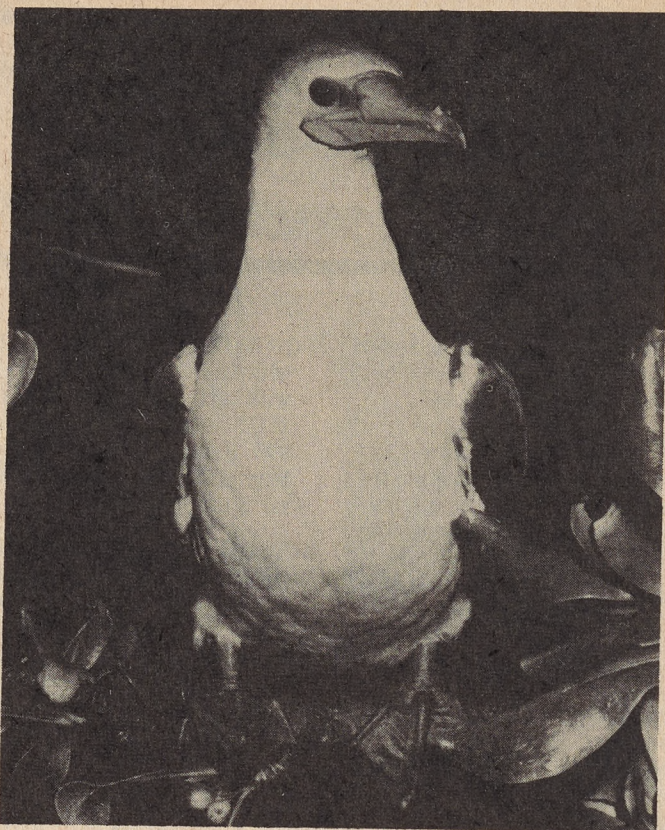

Various activities of the club will be represented with such booths as "A high Sierra trip, showing food and gear for a typical week in the high country, demonstrated by Ward Allison and Sam Hopkins. The mountaineering section will show a ski touring outfit and equipment by Dr. Bruce Meyer, chairman of the Ventana Chapter.

Patrick Dormody will illustrate "camping with children." The James Kramer family with exhibit home styled equipment and clothing and the Donald Hays family will exhibit needs for wilderness camping with a burro. Canoe camping will be represented by John Otter.

CV Gem & Mineral Society plans Oregon trip

Plans for the second Oregon gem trail safari will be discussed at a meeting of the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society this Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Carmel Middle School.

President William Malcomb Bauer announced that Wagonmaster Cal Keator, who plans to depart in June, will show slides taken on the last trip.

THE RED-FOOTED BOOBY is one of the many colorful birds to be seen in "Stepping Stones to Australia," Audubon Wildlife film to be presented in person by Patricia Bailey Witherspoon Tuesday March 15 at 8 p.m. in Pacific Grove Junior High School auditorium. Sponsor is Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

Audobon Society wildlife film

Final Audubon wildlife film of the season, "Stepping Stones to Australia," is scheduled Tuesday March 15 at 8 p.m. at Pacific Grove Junior High School, under the auspices of Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

The full-color film will be personally presented with a talk by Patricia B. Witherspoon.

Cost is $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for students and enlisted military.

The film is the result of an extensive expedition by Dr. Alfred M. Bailey, director of the Denver Museum of Natural History, and Mrs. Witherspoon, his daughter, to Oahu, Canton Island and the Fiji Islands, and to Australia and New Zealand.

To the Audubon lecture platform, Mrs. Witherspoon brings a truly rich and varied natural history experience, which enables her to speak with authority on wildlife of many parts of the world.
